

Adjunct – Introduction to Journalism

The Communication Department at Toccoa Falls College is looking for an adjunct professor to teach a section of Introduction to Journalism during the Fall 2015 semester. The instructor should have experience in the field of journalism and a graduate degree in the related field. Previous teaching experience is highly desirable, and commitment to facilitating the academic and spiritual formation of undergraduate students is expected.

Per the Pre-faculty Application Process link at <http://www.tfc.edu/about-tfc/connect/jobstfc/> you should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, personal testimony/faith narrative, and completed TFC faculty adjunct application (adjunct application available upon request) to Ms. Mary Kaye Ritchey, Human Resources Director at: mritchey@tfc.edu . All materials will remain confidential. As an equal opportunity employer, TFC encourages women and minorities to apply.

Toccoa Falls College is a Christ-centered liberal arts college affiliated with the Christian & Missionary Alliance. As such, adjunct faculty must evidence a mature Christian walk, fully affirm the college's statement of faith, and be willing to abide by the lifestyle requirements of the institution.
